

Client

Canadian Forces Communication & Electronic Museum, CFB Kingston. Kingston, Ontario.

Sears and Russell Architects and Dunlop Farrow Inc. Architects.

The reflective, mirror finished stainless steel panels rock in the wind and dance light patterns on the roof of the museum. The panels also rotate as a wind vane. The antennae at the top sway gently in rhythm with the winds whim. The piece incorporates special lighting and symbolizes developing communication technology.

Materials

Painted steel and mirror polished stainless steel, 20m high.